Grief & Loss Program

The United Hospice Foundation, in cooperation with AARP/Georgia, offers a wide range of resources and support to help you after the death of a loved one. All of the services are free and available to the general public.

One-On-One Peer Counseling — Speak with a volunteer in your area who has experienced a similar loss and has been trained to help you.

Support Groups — Listen to and interact with others who have also experienced the death of a loved one.

Brochures, Videos and Other Information — A wide variety of educational materials are available to help you through the grieving process.

Special Programs — Learn more about estate planning, cooking for one, grief & the holidays, automobile maintenance and more (all those things you never thought you'd have to worry about until you lost your loved one).
